Introducing our new Large Boost Oxygen canister: 10 Liters and 200 Inhalations - the most on the market!

Now with 40% more oxygen!

We are thrilled to introduce our new Large canister. It contains 10 Liters of 95% pure oxygen, which is 40% more than our old large can, and it provides the consumer with 200 one second inhalations - the most of any canister in the market today!

The best news is that our new large canister is stronger, which allows us to safely increase the pressure in the canister without altering its external dimensions. It is the same size as our old large can, so there is no change in Point of Sale displays or shipping packaging.

The canister is SK U #701, and the UPC for the new canister is 6-37866-28850-3.

The new canister begins shipping immediately, and all orders submitted on or after October 6, 2017 will be filled with the new canister. Wholesale and distributor prices will remain the same, but when we finish rolling out all of our aromatherapy scents the MSRP will be $14.99.

Our terms and conditions have changed with the introduction of the new Large canister. The most significant change is that the new Large canister is not allowed to be resold on Amazon.com without the written permission of Boost Oxygen

LLC. We will be sending out new terms and conditions to all of our business partners and customers by the end of this week.

Coming soon: our new Medium can

Our family of products is growing!

After over a year of development, we are excited to announce that Boost Oxygen is introducing a whole new product line this winter.

In addition to our new Large canister which begins shipping on October 6th, we will be introducing a Medium canister which contains 5 Liters of 95% pure oxygen. With 100 one second inhalations, it fits perfectly in our product line of Pocket Size with 50 one second inhalations and our new Large Size with 200 inhalations.

The Natural and Peppermint canisters will arrive first, with Menthol Eucalyptus and Pink Grapefruit not far behind. Stay tuned for more news about our newest product line!
